

Occupational Health and Safety Policy

We place the utmost importance on maintaining health and safety practices that promote an injury-free and illness-free workplace. We ensure compliance with relevant regulations and instil accountability among managers and employees to prevent workplace injuries and illnesses. Through a comprehensive occupational health and safety management system, we continuously improve by conducting thorough risk assessments, implementing mitigation strategies, and reporting on performance. To further strengthen our commitment, we offer wellness programmes to enhance employee productivity and well-being and require our suppliers, including contractors, to meet our stringent occupational health and safety standards.
